

Laretta Phillips has been telling stories Professionally since 1987. She writes most of her own stories but her repertoire also includes folk tales, fairy tales, legends, urban tales, tall tales, small tales, cat tales, rat tales, and just plain tales. She has told stories at churches, schools, inns, retirement centers, women's organizations, seniors groups, and for radio and television in New England and the Mid West, on her own and as a part of the duet Sisters Too.

Cora Jo Ciampi has been telling stories for just ever and professionally since the early 1980's. She writes many of her stories and uses old favorites with a new twist as well. Cora has taught storytelling in many places including The Universities of Montana and Wyoming; Library conferences, schools, and the list goes on. Working with young children is a love and a joy for her. She tells her stories to children from ages 0 to 100. Cora Jo lives in Gorham, NH with her husband and storylistener John as well as two cats Gata and Pepper.

An Award-winning Inn in the Heart of a New England
Resort Community

Snowy Owl Inn is considered one of New England's finest country inns. Set in the heart of Waterville Valley and the White Mountain National Forest, our all-season 82-room Inn offers a relaxing vacation, a great family getaway. It's also the perfect place for business meetings, seminars or conferences....and the picture-perfect setting for a Snowy wedding.

Our spacious lobby atrium, with it's natural wood and three-story fieldstone fireplace, is beautifully furnished. Polished pine floors, Oriental rugs and a warm fire on chilly days invite guests to linger with friends, a good book, or for late afternoon cocktail.

We're especially proud of our courteous, attentive staff. Feel free to call them for area information, directions, or any special needs you may have.

Join us for a weekend of Storytelling!

April 13th - 15th 2012

Let go of the daily grind and relax in the comfort of the Snowy Owl Inn at Waterville Valley. Take time to nurture the story inside of you. Storytellers Cora Ciampi and Laretta Phillips will lead you on a journey into your own imagination to discover the stories waiting to be told. Retreat includes three story session opportunities to explore the craft and dynamics of storytelling—plus an evening story concert. 5 meals and your accommodations are included and there will be ample time to relax or do some serious work on your own. You will have opportunity to attend all three sessions. You will also have time to work on your story and have your story heard in small groups or in full group sessions. Come ready for work and fun. You will have time to work one on one with the facilitators as time allows.

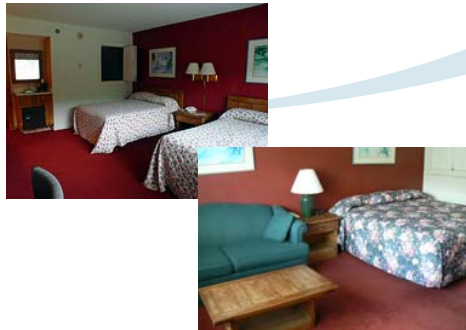

Your weekend includes:

Room accommodations for
Friday & Saturday nights
Dinner on Friday
Breakfast, Lunch and Dinner on Saturday
Breakfast on Sunday

Plenty of space for the workshop and multiple lobbies and outside space for working on your personal stories.
